

Jane Eggers

Clay is a medium I love because, like nature, it can feel beautifully unbounded, show movement while still, convey complexity and simplicity simultaneously, and be a touch point for intersubjectivity.