

A Cup Is a Cup Is a Cup

The title for this sculpture is borrowed from Gertrude Stein's phrase a rose is a rose is a rose. This appropriated quote emphasizes the idea that a word can have both specific and varied meanings. In this eccentric presentation, the cup is simultaneously a vessel, an image and a concept. Considering its explicit context, this cup is undoubtedly a bona fide a ceramic sculpture.